PORTLAND, WEDNESDAY OCT 27, 1886.

ARGUMENT FOR A NATIONAL WORK.

Commander H. C Taylor of the United States navy, recently delivered a lecture on the Nicaraguan canal, in course of which he took occasion to speak of the difficulties that lie in the way of completion of the canal at Panama, as well as of those that oppose the construction of the Eads ship railway at Tehuantepec, and the opinion was given, and supported with much plausibility and force, that the canal at Nicaragua is much more feasible than either of the other isthmian transit schemes

Commander Taylor, in fact, expresses the opinion that repeated experiments toward the perfection of instrumental surveys supported by actual digging and construction, will soon rule out both Panama and Tehuantepec, leaving only Nicaragua." Of the Panama canal, it is said that de Lesseps claims the 14 per cent. of the excavation is complete though disinterested engineers say that not more than half that amount has been executed The expenditure so far represents some thing over $60 000 000; but de Lesseps asserts that these figures, as compared with the amount of excavation actually executed, furnish no just statement of proportions, since much time and vast sums of money have been spent in grading be work under way and the remainder of it will be performed at far less proportional cost of money and time It is claimed, indeed, by de Lesseps that the canal will be completed within three years but naval parties of intelligence, Commander Taylor declares, say it will be impossible to complete it before the year 1900, even under the most favorable circumstances. And the greatest problem of all—that of controlling the Chagres river, so often converted into an unruly torrent by the sudden and prodigious rainfalls of that region—remains unsolved.

Discussing the Eads ship railway scheme, Commander Taylor says that the mass of engineering opinion regards the building of the embankments it would require, and the management of grades and turnings under the heavy strain of loaded ships, as difficult and dangerous, if not impossible. It would be necessary to carry loaded ships over an elevation of 650 feet, through swamps and across streams, and this could hardly be otherwise than dangerous, perhaps in very high degree, to the integrity and safety of ships' hulls. It is urged, moreover, that the cost of the operation would be so great that small net revenues could be expected even under most favorable conditions.

Lake Nicaragua is but 110 feet above sea level it is broad and deep, and will furnish navigation for about 60 of the 162 miles between the terminus of the proposed canal at Nicaragua, the Nicaragua river, easily deepened, will furnish navigation for about an equal section, leaving only about forty miles for the canal proper The conditions are highly favorable to construction and maintenance of the necessary lift locks—a part of the work that presents no difficulty being but a simple matter of known engineering methods. Commander Taylor claims that in the Nicaraguan scheme there is a minimum of unknown quantities, since the conditions are such that even the cost can be estimated with near approach to accuracy The estimate of cost is about $50,000,000, or but one-third of what has already been expended at Panama. But should the cost be even $2 0,000,000 it would still be cheap in a double sense for no estimate of the cost of the Panama canal can fall below $500,000,000, and moreover the saving of time and distance, including avoidance of tropical calms, would give vast advantage to the Nicaragua canal.

Commander Taylor also presents a strong argument for the Nicaragua canal as a work of transcendent military, naval and commercial importance to the United States. Control of it is offered to our government, but there is little recognition of its importance Commander Taylor, or warmly asks "What are we doing in rejecting this control?" Are we blind to the strides the Germans are making toward commercial supremacy in Mexico and Central America? Is there no significance in the loans which English capitalists are freely offering to Nicaragua to improve the navigation of her river and lake? These things tend but one way The English merchant, the German chancellor, the French engineer—they know what these things mean, they know what their nations need for their development."

TOWN AND COUNTRY

There are many evidences that the prejudice against Portland which has long prevailed in the interior of the state and in the Columbia river basin is giving way to a sentiment much more reasonable and just, and much better calculated to promote the many interests which the town and the country have in common It must be admitted that this prejudice has not been entirely without reason, although, after the habit of prejudice, it has not been discriminating nor just. Portland as an institution (if we may so speak) has been charged with the faults of a few greedy men of business and a few unscrupulous politicians, and has suffered the blame due in justice not to herself but to a greedy few

The ill-feeling toward Portland in the Willamette valley, for example has grown almost wholly out of a corrupt and wicked domination in politics, beginning in 1878 and not yet entirely overthrown. The political machine organized inside the dominant party shortly after the advent of Ben Holladay, with headquarters in Portland, has ridden rough shod over the interests of the valley and over the ambitions of its leading men It has shaped legislation to suit its own ends selected for office in the various counties its own agents and given the people no choice but to submit. It has elevated its own managers to dishonorable positions, and closed the door of political advancement against every valley man of high character and independent character An outraged people, not closely discriminating between the city and a few bad men in it, have charged the whole account of honest wrath against Portland and have hated her accordingly It has not been hard to understand, perhaps not really understood, that Portland like the valley, has been under the same bitter rule all these years. It has escaped consideration, and possibly notice, that this organization, when it rose to wickedness and power and exposed its system and purposes, was abandoned by a large body of men who formerly had made the strength of the republican party in Portland These men have since maintained a constant fight against the corrupt machine, and, although from time to time they have beaten it down, have never been able to triumph over it permanently The people of the valley are seeing at last that it is a political ring and not the city which merits their ill will, and they are beginning to see that in every relation of natural interest they are allied to Portland and that Portland is allied to them—partners so to speak for better or for worse

In the Columbia river basin prejudice against Portland has been quite as pronounced as in the Willamette valley, but it had its origin in a very different cause The people of that section have suffered for twenty or more years under severe exactions in the matter of freight carriage All their freights have gone to or come from Portland, and in their minds the city has been associated with a tax which has been excessive and grievous. That Portland has suffered and continues to suffer quite as much from this cause as the basin itself, is a fact which seems until recently to have escaped notice The relation is mutual, and has always been so In delaying the development of the country and limiting its production (a natural consequence of too high rates), the old navigation company did Portland a great injury by limiting her business. Portland gained little from the profits of the early traffic, for although for a time they were engrossed by Portland men, the fortunes they made, in almost every instance, were eventually carried bodily out of the state. Portland, the market, suffers under the severe rates now charged by the railroad company, equally with the field of production. And she has no advantage from the high rates, since the owners of the road, whom the Brooks-Scanlon do not live among us.

Portland has unquestionably, according to good business rule, gotten the highest possible prices for goods and the highest possible interest on money, and she has not been enterprising in making a market for the country, but on the other hand, she has carried the country in a financial sense through seasons bad as well as good There are few merchants in the country who, during the season of hard times now about ended, who could not and would not have been closed out under a severe business system by creditors in Portland What is known as the "Inland Empire" owes Portland merchants six millions of dollars at the present time, and it will be allowed to owe it under a business system which is liberal oftentimes to the point of generosity.

More and more, as the town and country grow in almost exact proportion, and as new means of transportation make us nearer to each other and better acquainted, it is seen that our interests are mutual and that remain so No circumstance can injure the one without harming the other and this is coming to be very generally understood The only real grievance or complaint against Portland now existing is that she does not make, as she could, a market for the country It is right that the country should insist upon reciprocity in this matter To do so is an effort to build up the interests of town and country alike, very different from efforts to tear down too often witnessed in the past, and we hope, for the last time

THE CARE OF THE INSANE

The complaint of the superintendent of the Oregon state insane asylum that the present accommodations are not sufficient for the proper protection of these unfortunate wards of the public is but a repetition of the complaint made in nearly every state in the Union As rule the public is generally too parsimonious in the matter of providing proper quarters for the insane. The Vermont insane, up to a few years ago, were in a very bad condition, not because they were treated with any deliberate cruelty but because the excessive number of patients made comfort and proper care impossible, even with humane attendance The doctors and attendants were too few the buildings were too small were too wretchedly lighted, sewered and warmed, and much distress and ill health was the result. One day the state happened to elect a state inspector of the asylum who was a fearless, intelligent and humane physician he made an able report an excellent medical visiting commission was appointed, a plan of reform was drawn up, accepted and put into execution by the asylum authorities, and the result is that the 450 inmates of the asylum now live in ample quarters that are well warmed, lighted, ventilated and secured, and there has been very little sickness for two years A specific system of outdoor exercise and recreation has been added to the treatment. There is a park for the males and another smaller summer pleasure ground for the females, with verandas and grass plots attached to the buildings. In winter there is the gymnasium, the billiard room, dancing parties, dramatic exercises and lectures The criminal and convict insane are to be removed to a new separate building to be added to the state house of correction

Of course these accommodations are found in most of our states, but up to six years ago they were almost entirely absent in one of the oldest states of the East, and the result shows what can be done in the way of the reform of public negligence and in difference when a board of visitors, earnest and intelligent medical men, are appointed to examine into the needs of the situation and make forcible and full representation of what is wanted in the way of reform The Wisconsin system of management of the state insane does away with restraint. By the August report of the current year but two of one thousand patients are deprived of freedom None of the patients had run away more than half of them are employed and their health is good Instead of being confined in one or two places, the Wisconsin state insane are distributed all through the counties of the state which is induced by both humane and financial inducements to assist in the care of these unfortunates This system is borrowed from Belgium and from England, where there are several institutions that discard confinement, strait-jackets, handcuffs, etc. If the Belgium system, there is no confinement save for imbeciles or idiots all other patients are boarded out among the farmers in the vicinity of the asylum We assume that criminal, homicidal insane would hardly be persons that could be cared for in this way, as they would be dangerous wards to adopt After all there is nothing new under the sun our most modern system of treatment of the insane is but a return to that of ancient Greece, where the insane were treated with excellent real good sense and humanity they were treated to music, and soothed by singing were diverted by various kinds of amusements. The poetic minded Greek argued that a person subject to fits of mental malady ought to have his world made as bright and beautiful as possible for him that he ought not to be associated altogether with persons as gloomy and unarranged as himself that he should live among breezy hills and sunny atmosphere, amid the cheerful stimulus of wiser and saner neighbors and a genial face of nature, if he would become a plant of healthier and humaner growth" The Greek seemed to think that even a homicidal lunatic might hesitate, before the appeal of the voice of the woods and fields and rills to immolate a fellow man, and yield to the healing influences which, through the voice of nature, help to lift the cloud from the darkened mind So the Athenian had no iron cage for his insane that folly and cruelty was first practiced by Christian civilizations, and was not unknown in England and America less than 100 years ago when lunatics were treated like wild beasts Within less than three years ago the medical superintendent of the lunatic asylum of Central Kentucky confessed to the board of state inspectors that he ducked refractory patients that he sometimes tied wet towels over their faces until they were suffocated into surrender When he ducked a patient their hands and feet were tied, placed in a tub of water and their heads pushed under Water and tubs there At the conference of charities held at Louisville Kentucky, in September last the Rev M Wines, speaking of the treatment of the insane in the Illinois county institutions, said This keepers of the establishments [illegible] lunatic paupers chain them to benches and to the floors pen them up in cells without any doors but only having holes in the walls through which to pass food and water Kept locked up in solitary rooms for sixteen years at a time without bath, out or setting foot upon the ground

The Chicago News, the other day, earnestly urged Illinois to adopt the Wisconsin system of freedom from restraint, for the following reasons

Freedom fresh air the absence of packed and noisome kennels plenty of occupation and a personal superintendence of the patients are among the more noted benefits secured by this process In a crowded state institution anything like adequate supervision is impossible in county establishments the sparseness of the patients and the contiguity of neighboring residents render all the operations open to constant public inspection All the buildings used by the counties are modeled on a plan which secures warmth ventilation and a healthful environment. The cost of thus securing more than double the advantages, without any of the abuses of the regular system is considerably less than one half that required in state management

The story of the loss of 40,000 head of cattle in Montana, the property of a St. Louis syndicate, reported some time ago in a Walla Walla paper and copied into THE OREGONIAN, is contradicted by the manager of the syndicate only about 50 head were lost, a very small per cent. of the great drove which reached the range in British Columbia in very good condition The cattle lost were left in Texas and arrived at the rendezvous in poor flesh The stock collected in Oregon and Washington which started [illegible] got through without loss

In Washington territory they are having what they call a "live" political canvass Its latest development is a very elaborate forgery A pamphlet of fourteen pages has appeared, signed "The Republican Central Committee of Washington Territory S. Baxter, Chairman, R. D Aitridge, Secretary," which purports to be an address to the people of the territory on the questions involved in the political campaign now in progress. Mr Baxter declares the pamphlet a forgery throughout says it did not emanate from the republican committee, and is an effort of enemies to place the republican party of the territory in a position of subserviency to the Northern Pacific Railroad company In particular, it is declared that the expressions in the pamphlet under the head of "Forfeiture" are not the sentiments of the republican party of the territory on that question The pamphlet of course is a forgery as far as such is a reprehensible thing It is to be regretted that the equity contained in the republican party of the territory on the subject of forfeiture has made it possible for such a forgery to be executed and circulated, with an air of plausibility

A paper which seldom states anything correctly asserts that THE OREGONIAN "recently claimed that the proper method of refuting Henry George's theories was to burn his books This OREGONIAN claimed nothing of the sort THE OREGONIAN wasn't talking of refuting these books, nor of any need of "refuting" them It simply remarked that the sensible thing to be done by the man who wants to get rid of the work would be not to waste his time over the books of Henry George in search for a "theory to lead him to success and prosperity, but rather to throw those books into the fire as unpuzzling and worthless trash or go right to work with his own energies guided by his own intelligence, and stick to it. But it can't be supposed, of course, that bogus journalism will understand the difference between genuine journalism and the quackeries of Henry George there is natural affinity, and the methods and results of both are about the same.

Politics are pretty "warm" in California. Thus, the Sacramento Record Union says that Bartlett, democratic candidate for governor, "should not receive the votes of the people, not of it because behind him is Hearst and his bull butler and dock rats, but because he was a know nothing" This at least equals the Oregon style of politics

The Two Schools
Atlanta Constitution

I asked Dr Charles Pinckney what he thought of the allopathic and homeopathic practice in medicine "Forty-nine people out of every fifty who are sick get well without medicine, but the fiftieth would die Homeopathy does, perhaps, less harm to the forty nine than allopathy, but allopathy has come in to save the fiftieth fellow"

LOCAL AND GENERAL.

SOUTHERN OREGON GRAPES.—When the O. & C. railroad was completed to its present southern terminus it was expected that this market would be supplied with grapes from that section. It is well known that grapes of most excellent flavor, superior to those of California, are produced around Jacksonville in large quantities, and it was naturally supposed that this market would draw its principal supplies from the vineyards there. But although a few shipments were made here, the business finally ceased. The rates made by the railroad company were apparently favorable enough, but as shipments under them could only be made at intervals and by freight trains, they did not amount to much in the way of promoting business. Another effort to open up this trade has been made by Robert A. Miller, of Jacksonville, who has effected arrangements which will enable him to place any amount of grapes in the market daily. The grapes raised in this section are about exhausted, but the season at Jacksonville extends from August to December, and this market will be supplied from that section for some time yet. This will be a good thing for all concerned. There should be no necessity for importing grapes from California when there is plenty and of fine quality in our own state. The grapes around Jacksonville have long been celebrated for an excellence of flavor peculiar to that locality alone.

PICKING MUSHROOMS.—Mushrooms have been very plentiful this season and many boys have earned quite an amount by gathering them for market. But little care is used in collecting them in most cases and they present such a broken, dirty appearance, that they are not at all tempting. If the boys instead of pulling them up by the roots and thereby breaking the tops of the large ones and then throwing them, stems and all into the basket, would with a knife cut the mushroom from the stalk, it would be much better. They would not be so broken and they would not be dirtied up by the soil sticking to the roots, and they would sell much better. But with mushrooms it is much the same as with most other things offered in the market here; the amount of time and care expended in preparing them for sale is quite out of proportion to the price asked.

A FATAL FALL.—Yesterday morning at half-past 9 o'clock, what it is thought will prove a fatal accident occurred at Weidler's mill, the victim being Peter Jacobson, a Swede who has been in the employ of the mill some time. Jacobson, while engaged on the upper wharf, in some manner lost his balance and fell over backwards, and on to a heavy pile of lumber on the ground some twenty-five feet below. His entire weight came down on his shoulder and the back of his neck. He was picked up in an insensible condition and taken to St. Vincent's hospital, where Drs. Bevan and McKenzie waited on him. Jacobson was found to be completely paralyzed from the points of the shoulder downwards, and to have received a fracture of the spine. His case is a hopeless one. Jacobson is unmarried and about 40 years of age.

NEED OF A FISH COMMISSIONER.—Reports come from all directions of tons of diseased and unwholesome salmon being shipped to Astoria to be canned. It seems as if some three or four canners are determined to make up for a months' enforced idleness in the beginning of the season, by taking the worn-out, exhausted fish from their spawning beds. Hundreds of the same kind are seen in this market, their attenuated bodies, sickly colors, hooked noses and ferocious teeth presenting an appearance anything but inviting. The sight of these fish slaughtered just as they were ready to deposit their ova, and sold for food or to canners men in this unwholesome condition, shows that urgent necessity exists for the appointment of a fish commissioner who will have power to put a stop to this thing.

ATTEMPTED TILL TAPPING.—The agent and baggagemaster who preside at the "Grand Union depot," at the corner of North Front and G streets, were somewhat surprised on returning from their dinners yesterday to find that a square of glass in each of two of the windows in the building had been broken just over the window fastener. The object was undoubtedly robbery, as there had been a considerable sum of money left in the till in the office. Forthwith the windows from disuse had grown fast and the would-be thief was not able to raise either of them, and consequently failed to raise the wind. It looks as if the attempt was made by some one familiar with the premises and who knew of the money being in the till. It won't be there any more.

WANT ALL BELONGING TO THEM.—The Oregon Transfer company yesterday commenced suit against the E. G. Pierce transfer and forwarding company, to recover $281 32 and legal interest from July 5, 1886. Plaintiffs complain that at the time they bought out the defendants part of said assets was the sum of $391 32 in United States gold coin, then belonging to and in possession of said defendants in San Francisco, and that the same has never been delivered to plaintiffs, although demanded. After bringing the suit, the Oregon Transfer company had a garnishment served on the London and San Francisco bank, prohibiting its manager from paying the E. G. Pierce company the disputed $391 52.

TRACKLAYING COMPLETED.—According to an article published in the Spokane Falls Chronicle, tracklaying has been completed on the spread from Coeur d'Alene city to the junction of the main line Northern Pacific, and the first train will be put through to-day. The rails and other material for the road from the Mission to Wardner Junction are now lying at the junction on the main road, and will be transported at once to the Mission. The work of laying rails on the branch up the South Fork will be commenced in about a week, and be in running order in three weeks at the farthest. The development of the mines will be greatly accelerated by the construction of this branch.

COMPETITIVE DRILL.—At a meeting of Company G, O. N. G., it was decided to accept the proposition of the Seattle Rifles for a competitive drill. The terms of the agreement are that the two companies present drill squads of twenty-four men, two guides and three officers to drill the manual of arms, school of the soldier and school of the company, judges to be selected from the officers of the regular army, the company assumes all expenses, including transportation of its competitors to this city, and the winner of the contest takes the net gate receipts. The drill is to take place in the Mechanics' pavilion on the first or second Saturday in December.

HOUSE ROBBED IN DAYLIGHT.—Some thief entered the residence of E. D. DeWert, No. 291 Montgomery street, about noon yesterday and stole two suits of clothes and a lady's hunting case gold watch and chain. The city has been very free from depredations of this kind for some time, but since the arrival of the winter supply of tramps they are becoming more numerous. The police must keep a bright lookout for these fellows and parties who have no visible means of support and follow no honest avocation should be vagged. The police court can be depended on to give such fellows a full measure of justice.

ARE BREWER'S GRAINS UNHEALTHY.—In Justice Tuttle's court yesterday Jesse Evans and John Schmidt, charged with violating the dairy law in feeding malt to milch cows, had an examination, and were held to answer before the grand jury on bonds of $100 each, which were furnished. These cases may settle the question as to whether brewers' grains are wholesome feed for cows or not. They are simply barley after it has been malted and steeped, and are clean and are fed to cows in probably every city in the Union. These "grains" are altogether a different thing from distillery swill, and are considered by most people healthful and nutritious.

POLICE COURT.—Tim Sullivan showed up again in the police court yesterday on a charge of drunkenness. Tim had only been out twenty-four hours, when arrested by policeman Robinson. He informed Judge Dement that he was tired of being in jail and his honor answered, "Yes, and I'm tired of seeing you here, twenty-five days." N. A. Lyford arrested for running a lottery, had his case continued and was released on $50 bail. Lyford procured a license from the city auditor before he opened up for hawking, but hawking is one thing and conducting a lottery another.

THIEVES ARRESTED.—Monday afternoon detectives Barry and Simmons arrested W. J. Sears for breaking into D. P. Hughes's tailoring establishment Saturday night and stealing a lot of clothing, gloves and so on. Yesterday a young fellow, who gave the name of George Robinson, was taken into custody as Sears's accomplice. Yesterday when the police court convened Sears asked a continuance of his case for two days, and Robinson waived examination to appear before the grand jury. Robinson is supposed to have committed numerous larcenies of late.

SATISFACTORY EXAMINATION.—Hon. E. Robertson, who came here in the interests of the Scotch stockholders in the Oregonian railway, made a tour of inspection over the west side line on Saturday last, in company with receiver Scott, to examine into the condition of road and bridges. On Monday, accompanied by Judge Deady, Mr. Hugh Roger and receiver Scott, he went up the east side as far as the bridge across the South Santiam. Mr. Robertson expressed himself as much pleased with the condition of the road. He leaves for home on Saturday.

BOUND OUT BY COURT.—Amelia Brown, a French courtesan, was arrested yesterday for threatening to kill Ah Sam, a Chinese servant in her employ. Sam says she threatened to shoot him because he quit and demanded his pay, and the woman made out that Sam refused to do his work, and she simply bounced him. Justice Tuttle, before whom a hearing was had, became disgusted with the whole business and bounced the case out of court.

TO BE PUT ON THE MARKET.—It is rumored that the owners of City View park are contemplating platting the same into lots and blocks and putting them on the market. On account of its proximity to the city, it will undoubtedly become a fine suburban place of residence, but if the city is ever to own a suitable and convenient place for fair grounds, none more desirable could be procured.

LARCENY BY BAILEE.—The song of the shirt, with a few collars thrown in, was sung to Justice Tuttle yesterday by Clarence Carey. It was the same version that is frequently sung in this city. Carey gave some clothes to Tung Lee to have washed, and claims he can't get them back again. He therefore caused the arrest of Tung Lee on a charge of larceny by bailee.

BURIED AT LONE FIR.—The funeral of Samuel M. Smith took place yesterday morning at half past 10 o'clock from the First Congregational church, at Second and Jefferson streets. Philip C. Schuyler, F. R. Arnold, Charles Woodard, Thomas Davis, Charles H. Sitton and Wm. Pfunder acted as pall bearers. The remains were interred in Lone Fir cemetery.

A STEAMBOAT COLLISION.

The O. & C. Ferryboat and the Launch Mikado Run into Each Other—Phil Holland Seriously Injured.

A serious collision occurred yesterday morning at 7 o'clock between the O. & C. railroad ferry and the steam launch Mikado, the Mikado had just left the wharf at the foot of D street for Albina, with about fifty longshoremen on board, and at almost the same moment the ferry boat left the slip at the foot of F street for the east side. The pilot on the Mikado affirms that he gave one whistle, which signified that he was to pass to the right, that Capt. Jones returned his signal, but instead of changing his course or checking the speed of the ferry, kept straight on. The statement is corroborated by the engineer of the Mikado and others who were on board. Capt. Jones, on the other hand, says that he heard the signal, promptly answered it and at once reversed his wheels, but that the pilot of the Mikado changed his course. When it became evident that a collision was inevitable, efforts were made by both pilots to prevent it, but without success. The guards of the ferryboat struck the forward part of the Mikado, smashing the pilot-house to pieces. Instantly everything was confusion. Several men jumped overboard off the launch and the young fellow at the wheel was literally thrown out of the pilot-house by the force of the collision, but luckily escaped unhurt. Phil Holland, brother of Councilman John Holland, was not so fortunate.

He was standing a few feet forward of the pilot house when the boats came crashing together. Before he could get out of harm's way he was caught between the guard of the ferry and the Mikado's wheel house and very badly jammed. Holland was knocked insensible and remained in that condition for a short time. As soon as possible the Mikado was landed, and the injured man conveyed to the drug store of Dr. S. Parker, at the corner of First and E streets. He was bleeding profusely from the ears, nose and mouth, and was supposed to have sustained serious internal injuries. Dr. Parker made a superficial examination of the injured man and soon ascertained no bones were fractured. Holland was afterwards removed to St. Vincent's hospital, where an examination of his case was made by Drs. Gibbetts and Bevan. His skull was found to be broken and he is otherwise badly hurt internally. Some hopes are entertained, however, of his recovery.

The ferryboat escaped with scarcely a scratch, while the damage to the launch will amount to about $250. An official investigation will have to be made in order to determine where the fault lies.

THE STAGE.

NEW MARKET THEATER.—Another large house witnessed the second performance of the romantic drama "Among the Pines" last evening, and the play as well as mechanical effects went much smoother than on the first night. Georgie Woodthorpe proves herself a most earnest, painstaking little actress, and enters into her work with a vim and enthusiasm that is worthy of a better setting. There is not a great deal in plays of this character to commend them to the public taste; yet, in spite of this, they seem to "catch on," and produce a most incredible amount of enthusiasm. It is so with this play.

The parts are fairly well sustained; Mr. Scott Cooper as Bill Hardy, the trapper, furnishing a vivid picture of the grizzled backwoodsman; Mr. E. A. Cooper as the Chinaman, being good; Fid M. Page, as the seedy old bummer Judge Simpson, particularly good; J. R. Branson as Sleuth, H. Leroyle as Coerlo, Miss Lillian Monteford as Edith, and Miss Sadie Stringham as Amanda all sustain their parts fairly well. "Among the Pines" again to-night.

Whenever I read your advertisements," says a jolly, good-natured man on the eastside road, a few days ago, "and I came to town to see if you can fit me, as you claim you can do."
Well, to describe this man: he is a regular whale; chest 52 inches, sleeves 31 inches, pants 50, waist 39 inches; length—well, to look us just about twenty minutes, and he was rigged out complete for $22 with a suit to fit him, and a more surprised man never visited Portland.
We mean just what we say—we can fit anybody; we don't care for his size, be he large or small.

One of the Tricks of the Trade,
As played by two or three houses here, is to mark out goods less than cost in their windows, to catch the unwary, and when they have their victim in their toils, oh Lordy! how they do fleece him! Talk about "bunko sharps," they can't be compared. Wonder, kind reader, have you ever been in their toils. We know plenty that have; we have.

COMMERCIAL.

TUESDAY, Oct. 26.

The Oregon brought $117,405 treasure for this city and $480 for Astoria.

The last Australian steamer from San Francisco carried 9570 cases salmon, 1000 bbls flour, 187 ctls onions, 501 ctls wheat and the usual assortment of canned goods, dried fruit, etc.

Overland receipts include 363 butts tobacco, car wagons, 500 cs corn, 262 sks dried peaches, 361 cs 55 ctns starch, 2 cs 3 bbls candy, 33 cs can goods, 25 bbls cranberries, 150 cs lard, 24 bxs glass, 3 cs ks 4 bbls paint, 64 bdls 67 bars steel, 4 cs hats, 1 cs clothing, 23 trunks 3 bls 1 cs c p goods, 25 bbls 3 cs 2 sks 3 cs glassware, 2 cs hosiery, 2 cs corset, 6 cs dry goods, 31 cs boots and shoes, 4 safes, 4 ris carpet, 3 bxs 10 kgs nails, 16 cs axes.

In its review of the San Francisco market for last week the Commercial News says: While there is no special alteration in the situation locally speaking, trade is satisfactory in most lines and promises to continue so, while all Eastern exchanges and private advices show that business there is in a most prosperous condition. The imports of merchandise at this port in September show a slight decrease as compared with previous months, but the total value was $5,468,973, and the total for the year to October 1 was $32,780,821. Sugar usually forms a very large item in the import list, but September receipts were light, being but 11,379,800 lbs. The total imports for the first nine months of the year were 204,729,067 lbs., valued at $9,459,834. It is reported that an active demand exists for refined sugars and the refineries are unable to keep up with orders. The City of Peking brought a light quantity of tea and an average quantity of other Oriental merchandise, rice, nut, oil, spices, etc. The only change noted this week is a further decline in Hawaiian rice. The demand for canned goods continues active, with no special change in quotations. Apricots and pears are in light supply. Salmon continues dull with buyers and sellers apart in their views and quotations are more or less nominal. Coal is in good request and prices for some grades are firmer. Fig iron is but little affected by the advance East, although the difficulty in procuring supplies from that quarter must tend to improve the situation. Stocks of pig tin are concentrated and holders are asking 30c, although there are outside lots that can be obtained for 28c and upwards. There is no movement in tin plate. Quicksilver remains firm with a light business reported.

FREIGHTS—Owners are firm in their views and exporters exhibit an indifferent mood. More tonnage to arrive is being offered. The Amana is reported cleared late to-day.

WHEAT—Advices rather weaker and the markets abroad are dull. Our market is quiet but steady at last quoted prices. To-day's advices are not such as to create any feeling of decided weakness.

FLOUR—Firm, with full prices of $3 70@3 75 demanded. The new strength of wheat locally is felt.

OATS—Dull but firm locally. Advices are of a weaker shipping market.

EGGS—Irregular at 27½@30c, most dealers asking the extreme for choice local. Sixty cases Eastern in last night changes the condition of the market.

MARKETS BY TELEGRAPH.

NEW YORK STOCK MARKET.

NEW YORK, Oct. 26.—Government bonds were dull and steady. The stock market, until the last hour, presented the same general features that it has for several days past. The opening was firm to strong, prices showing advances over closing figures of the evening, ranging from ¼ to ⅝ generally, while New England and Union Pacific were each up ⅝. Trading was quiet, the only features being weakness in Union Pacific and strength in Jersey Central and Louisville & Nashville. The general market was heavy and dull, and so continued until the afternoon, when a break occurred in Pacific Mail. There was the same improvement in prices which, in the last hour, became a decided upward movement over the whole list, and early losses were regained in almost every case, the market closing strong at or near the best figures of the day.

Mining shares were less active. Bodie, $4 65. Bulwer $1 35, Mono $2 60, North Bello Isle $4@4 10, Sierra Nevada 80, Union Con. $4 10.

SAN FRANCISCO MINING STOCKS REPORT.

SAN FRANCISCO, Oct. 26.

The market was very active to-day. It opened strong but closed lower under large offerings of long stock. The feeling is bullish and the decline is thought to be temporary. There is more disposition shown to be public to operate than for years. The feature of to-day's market was the advance in the alta group. Alta opened at 75, advanced rapidly and sold at $1 20 in regular board, closing in afternoon at 85, in justice sold up to $1 25, and Daly Washington at 50c. Advices from the mines are reported to be favorable. More attention is being shown to the "Gulfoleas." Cross-cutting in Crocker, Peer and Peerless is about to commence.

POLITICS IN WASHINGTON TERRITORY.

COWLITZ, Oct. 26, 1886.

TO THE EDITOR OF THE OREGONIAN:

In an editorial paragraph in the 25th you seem to think that there has been a short corner turned in politics in these parts, stating that some persons who protested against the passage of the Dolph bill are now denouncing Voorhees because he failed in pushing it through the house. In the "chances and changes" of politics it would be strange if there were not a few such. We believe there are not many. If there are any such we believe they have come about through ignorance. At all events, we are not asking for their pardon.

The republicans of this locality claim that Voorhees lacks good judgment. The Dolph bill, with the Van Wyck and Beck amendments, forfeited some three million acres of railroad land in this territory and repealed the law exempting the "right of way" from taxation, thereby adding to the taxable property of the territory about eighteen millions (being about one-third of the assessed property of the territory), and saved for future forfeiture much other railroad lands as should be legal and just. This bill the republicans say should have received the hearty support of Mr. Voorhees, not his bitter opposition. It was not what we wanted or demanded, but all he senate was likely to grant.

We need never expect congress to pass an act so just to the Northern Pacific, and to the people, as the Dolph bill with the Van Wyck and Beck amendments.

The Dolph bill forfeited the "unearned lands" about which there could be no doubt. The house or Voorhees's bill took in from Bismarck to Puget sound, the legality of which, as to most of it, there is great doubt. The house bill was a great blunder. A few more such blunders and the Northern Pacific will laugh at all its foes.

Mr. Voorhees, with the aid of the democratic house, are of more service to the railroad company than its paid attorneys.

In the fight with the Northern Pacific the people have lacked wise, strong leadership, and through it all there has been much Egyptian blindness. The "gross earnings law," passed in 1883, furnishes an example. Through this law the territory has received a small revenue from the Northern Pacific. The "right of way" is exempt from taxation, and the railroad lands, until the enabling act of congress last winter, being non-taxable. Under the taxing power of the territory the "gross earnings law" was the best measure that could have been passed. It should have been passed years before. And yet there are those who denounce it as infamous, and condemn the republicans for passing it at the last session of the legislature. This county under this "infamous" law, received in 1884, $2094; in 1885, $1300, and the latter amount this year. But for the law probably not one cent from that source.

"Wisdom is justified of her children." In any matter affecting the welfare of this territory, it is not what the people want, what they will do, what they ought to have, but what congress is willing to grant.

We can do nothing of ourselves. Our demand is for statehood. We may vote for it, we may clamor, for to admit a state republican in politics is contrary to the traditions of the democratic party.

LADD'S ARTESIAN WELL.

What It Shows of the Formation of the Earth to a Depth of 1700 Feet.

A glacial chart of the strata through which W. S. Ladd's artesian well in East Portland has passed in reaching the 1700-foot level, prepared by Dr. Willis E. Everette, shows the following varieties and depths:

UPPER WATER LEVELS.	Feet	Feet
Earth and clayey sand		20
Fine drift and sand	100	120
Sand, clay and gravel	20	140
Granite & basalt boulders in moist sand	20	160
Water-worn boulders and gravel and veins of white sand (first water)	20	180
Gravel and sand, granite	20	200
Gravel and sand, basaltic	20	220
Coarse grit and gravel basaltic	55	275
Water-worn boulders	25	300
Fine sand	26	326
Coarse grit of granite and felspar	64	390
Alternate veins of basaltic boulders	46	405
CENTRAL LEVELS.
Olive marl and clay shale with fossil vegetation and narrow sand stratums	315	720
Fine grit and sandstone	10	730
Marl, talc, and shale mud with fossil vegetation and soft sandstone	120	850
Stiff clay shale and marl with fossil vegetation and the basaltic sand	150	1000
Fine white and coarse sand with mica scales (Potsdam sandstone)	80	1080
Conglomerate with fossil plants, infusorill and fossil vegetation	120	1200
Coarse basaltic grit and gravel	50	1250
Fine sandy marl and shale mud containing fossil vegetation	50	1300
LOWER LEVELS.
Compact archean rock (solid granite)	400	1700

This rock may continue for many thousands of feet in solid and unbroken mass.

The chances of the well ever proving a flowing one are very small, indeed, but the contractor is going down to a depth of 2000 feet, or till he gets a flowing well.

A very peculiar circumstance connected with this well is, that it has demonstrated the existence of five distinct forest growths; that is, five forests one over the other, are underneath the valley and river of the lower Willamette and the city of East Portland. By careful reading the composition of the different stratums an idea can be gained as to where these forest growths have been.

This is nothing very new or startling. The city of New Orleans, La., at the mouth of one of the channels of the delta of the Mississippi river, stands over a large submerged forest; and the indications are that there are others ad infinitum. In the Yellowstone park, there is a petrified vertical bluff showing twenty-nine distinct forests, one above the other, one wood being partly fossilized and carbonized. Given, a forest whose trees are many hundreds (and maybe thousands) of years old, how many years will it take for these trees to fall, rot and fill up again with young growth, and this in its turn die and be covered by its own straws, leaves and resulting soil, and another forest growth to spring up on this soil? Then, saying that it took at least 10,000 years to gradually cover these prostrate many and tall standing grand and enormous conifers and deciduous trees, here would be one single bluff that shows an age of 290,000 years.

Yet it is strange to think that we are now living over five forests which at one time were possibly filled with animal (and maybe human) life; and to think that centuries hence wells may be sunk through the future wash and earth that will cover us and on to the now known city of Portland and Willamette river and valley by beings who will follow us in the cycle of ages, and regard with great curiosity and speculate on the uses of specimens of our "Oregon ruins," i. e., the always-to-be-built Villard hotel of the Northern Pacific railroad.

EUGENE NOTES.

Mrs. A. F. McClain, of Silverton, is visiting her mother, Mrs. J. B. Underwood.

The November term of the circuit court opens next Monday, with about 100 cases on the docket.

Miss Emmitt, of Douglas county, a daughter of Senator Emmitt, is visiting Mrs. Judge Washburne.

The state university is progressing very quietly and satisfactorily this year, with nearly an average enrollment.

Real estate men say the demand for vacant lots is much greater than usual at this season of the year, which indicates an increase of building next year.

The public schools, under the management of Prof. W. J. Vawter, president of the state university, are doing excellent work and having a full attendance.

Mr. J. W. Cleaver, one of Eugene's most worthy citizens, has been very ill with a lung trouble for some weeks and but little hopes are entertained for his recovery.

Several immigrants have located in the Siuslaw country within the last week and like the outlook for the part of the country, notwithstanding the Missouri colony fizzle.

The new M. E. church will not be dedicated before some time in December. It is a handsome structure, but has been at least three months longer in being completed than it should.

Many of our hop raisers have their this year's crop on hand yet, though enough of them sold while prices were from 25 to 30 cents per pound to put quite an amount of money into circulation and quicken trade very perceptibly.

The brick work on the Hoffman house is about completed, and work on Hodson's block has been begun. When completed these improvements will add four good commercial structures to the business facilities of our thriving little city.

The fine weather since the rains has been used industriously by our farmers in getting in a full crop of fall wheat, and the next season should be favorable for its development a considerable increase over the average yield may be expected.

Contracts have been let by the water works company for the construction of their pump house and the excavations for the reservoir. Work will be prosecuted as rapidly as possible, so as to insure completion before the dry weather of next summer sets in on. This will be one of the most important improvements ever made here.

In the matter of the estate of Pierre Mandet, deceased, petition of Rachel Pallete for removal of John Bigue as executor; motion to correct and amend the record herein nunc pro tunc by filing the findings of fact of the court for a decree in accordance herewith denied.

STATE CIRCUIT COURT, NO. 2.

State vs. M. S. Rankin; demurrer to indictment set for hearing November 1.

Bernhart Bullert, a native of Germany, admitted to citizenship.

SUPPOSED COUNTERFEITER ARRESTED.

A person supposed to be Jake Freegnan, the negro who escaped from the city jail here some months ago, was arrested Monday at Astoria by policeman Hensley and will be brought back to Portland by sheriff Ross. Freeman is one of the gang of counterfeiters arrested last spring at Coffin Rock. His pals, Wm. Etheridge and Robert Blagg, are at present occupying quarters in the county jail, and were recently indicted by the U. S. grand jury. If the party arrested proves to be Freeman, who is an important factor in the case, matters will progress materially and the trial of the case soon be commenced with.

THE HADDOCK MURDER IN IOWA.

DESMOINES, Ia., Oct. 26.—The mystery attending the Haddock murder at Sioux City is slowly clearing up. One of the most important witnesses, who may prove very closely connected with the murder himself, was a man named Koskitski, commonly called "Bismarck." He was arrested in San Francisco and brought back last week. He was taken to this city before Gov. Larabee and the attorney-general, and he made a confession which corroborated the confession of Leavitt, already fixing the crime upon the brewer Arensdorf. The confession was made last Saturday, but the prosecution has kept it secret until to-night, when, by permission of the attorney-general, it is given to the public. Bismarck is now in jail in Sioux City. He confesses that he assisted a saloonkeeper to hire a man to assault Haddock, but he claims that another man fired the fatal shot. His testimony shows the murder was the result of a saloon plot, and no one but the saloons were concerned in it. The confession is regarded as the most important evidence yet produced and is startling in its development. Koskitski says that he saw Haddock come out of the barn and across the sidewalk and that John Arensdorf and the other brewer (Harry Peters) met and shot him, and then ran across the bridge towards the brewery. He says that a saloonkeeper named George Grether came to him the next day and told him that he must get away from there, at the same time giving him $125.

He says that afterwards he received $100 from Arensdorf to leave the city. Otto Greiber, another eye-witness of the Haddock murder, has also made a statement implicating Gaudet, who is variously known as "Charley" and "Steamboat Charley," for whom the detectives are now searching. In his statement he says: "When I came to Water street Gaudet went to the Columbia house and came back shortly afterward and called Bismarck, who was on the other side of the street. Bismarck did not want to cross. He said: 'I do not want to go.' After a while Gaudet came out of the saloon and crossed over with Henry Peters, the beer wagon driver, whom he had met, and the three, Henry Peters, Bismarck and Gaudet went up the street as far as the livery stable and then returned. I crossed over to the other side of the street and after a while a man came across Fourth street, and when he was seated in the middle two men followed him and one of them—the one behind—was Henry Peters and the one in the middle looked like Bismarck. The first man raised his hand, and as he lowered it the shot was fired."

Greiber is a nephew of Gaudet and lived with him. That night when Gaudet came home he says he said to him that if he was as well off as Arensdorf he would have shot that man.

Get the Best

Is a good motto to follow in buying medicine, as well as in everything else. By the universal satisfaction it has given, and by the many remarkable cures it has accomplished, Hood's Sarsaparilla has proven itself unequaled for building up and strengthening the system, and for all diseases arising from or promoted by impure blood. Do not experiment with any inferior and untried article when you are told is "just as good," but be sure to get only Hood's Sarsaparilla.

"I consider Hood's Sarsaparilla the best medicine I ever used. It gives me an appetite and good healthy sleep, and keeps the cold out." J. HUSS, Boone, 10th Spruce Street, Portland, Me.

"I was severely run down; had no appetite, and felt the need of a good tonic. I have taken other medicines, but never found any that did me so much good as Hood's Sarsaparilla. I have now a good appetite and feel renewed strength, better than I have been for years." E. H. RAND, 41 West Ninth st., Oswego, N. Y.

"Hood's Sarsaparilla takes less time and quantity to show its effect than any preparation I ever heard of." MRS. C. A. RICHARDS, S. Chil., N. Y.
